

Criminal Justice Resource Guide

USAJobs.gov - <https://www.usajobs.gov>

One-stop source for Federal jobs and employment opportunities sponsored by the U.S. Office of Personnel Management. Search for openings by location or keyword and become a “My USAJobs Member” to post and create a resume, apply to Federal Government jobs, and receive automated job alerts.

Department of Justice (DOJ) - <http://www.justice.gov/careers>

The DOJ leads the nation in ensuring the protection of all Americans while preserving their constitutional freedoms. As a Justice employee you'll be a member of a team where you can achieve your career goals and apply your skills and talents to our important mission. Vacancies for law students and attorneys can be found on www.justice.gov/legal-careers.

Federal Bureau of Investigation - <http://www.fbi.gov>

Another important website for those interested in Criminal Justice is the Federal Bureau of Investigations site or the F.B.I. Valuable information about the federal services offered is included, as well as employment opportunities.

Department of Homeland Security (DOH) - <http://www.dhs.gov/homeland-security-careers>

DHS offers highly qualified individuals the unique opportunity to start their career by addressing some of the most critical and challenging issues facing our nation today. Learn about current student, recent graduate, and veteran job opportunities, including internships, fellowships and training programs available across the Department.

American Bar Association - <http://www.americanbar.org/careercenter.html>

Read about legal practice areas, career transition, and alternative careers for law school graduates. Learn how to develop your job hunting strategies, polish your interview skills, and collaborate with your professional network to enhance your career.

Criminal Justice Profiles - <http://www.criminaljusticeprofiles.org>

Established to help criminal justice and law enforcement students as well as aspiring criminal justice career professionals make better, more informed job and career choices by providing them with relevant, reliable and up-to-date career development and job search resource.

The Blue Line - <http://theblueline.com>

Website and monthly newsletter of police and rescue career opportunities with related news. Browse career postings and recruitment schedules for free, and/or receive email notifications and exclusive access to job opportunities with a paid membership.