Drugs and Abuse in Criminal Justice

By: Dr. Lester Brown
CEO, Hole in the Soul Treatment Facility

Saturday, July 26

- Drug Laws and Law enforcement
- United States Drug Policy
- Decriminalization, Legalization, Harm Reduction

We'll look at the new paradigm shift in policing which is "community policing" looking at drug use and abuse from a treatment perspective, working with treatment agencies to get the arrestee help. We'll look more toward the disease model than the moral-legal model and cover the historical perspective of the way addicts were looked at from a Law Enforcement perspective, and how U.S. Drug Policy was driven by unfounded fears. Finally, we'll look at how decriminalization, legalization and harm reduction move toward a new paradigm shift in thinking.
