Preface

Field work has been heralded as the signature pedagogy of social work education (CSWE, 2008). The Field Office under the auspices of the Social Work Department at GSU provides students with optimal learning experiences in the field.

Integrative Field Seminar affords students opportunities to bridge the gap between theory and practice through a process oriented learning environment. Through the simultaneous course offerings of Field Practicum and Field Seminar students solidify their practice skills, learn to use supervision effectively, practice self-reflection, demonstrate professionalism, model the NASW Code of Ethics, promote social justice and develop their own professional identity.

Chapter 2 - Fieldwork

Objectives by Program Level

BSW

After completing the foundation curriculum at Governors State University students are expected to be well versed in the principles of generalist practice. “Generalist practice is grounded in the liberal arts and the person and environment construct. To promote human and social well-being, generalist practitioners use a range of prevention and intervention methods in their practice with individuals, families, groups, organization, and communities. The generalist practitioner identifies with the social work profession and applies ethical principles and critical thinking in practice. Generalist practitioners incorporate diversity in their practice and advocate for human rights and social and economic justice. They recognize, support and build on strengths and resiliency of all human beings. They engage in research informed practice and are proactive in responding to the impact of context on professional practice” (CSWE, 2008, p.7).

Students will be able to:

1. Apply knowledge of the relationship between individuals and their environment in multiple contexts including historical, cultural, biological, psychological, spiritual and social contexts.
2. Apply critical thinking skills within the context of professional social work practice.
3. Understand the value base of the profession and its ethical standards and engage these principles in practice.
4. Practice without discrimination and respect all people regardless of one’s age, class, ethnicity, culture, ability, national origin, family structure, gender or sexual orientation.
5. Practice with respect and cultural humility.
6. Understand the forms and mechanisms of oppression and discrimination and apply strategies of advocacy and social change that advance social and economic justice.
7. Examine and understand the history of the social work profession and its contemporary structures and issues.
8. Apply the knowledge and skills of a generalist social work perspective to practice in a variety of practice levels (micro, mezzo and macro).
9. Use theoretical frameworks supported by empirical evidence to understand human development, behavior and agency across the lifespan as well as interactions between individuals, families, groups, communities and organizations.
10. Gain proficiency in generalist practice with individuals and/or groups and communities.

The Field Manual is the standard guide for Field Education in the Social Work Program at Governors State University. It presents policies and procedures to assist students, field agency instructors and GSU field faculty. The Field Manual is intended to serve as a guide regarding professional mandates, field instruction roles and responsibilities, field instruction procedures, the Field Instructor Agreement, and student performance as it relates to field and the field curriculum.

The Field Director's office is located in G122. Questions related to this manual or field instruction can be directed to the Director of Field Education at 708-235-7690 or by email: fielddeductionoffice@govst.edu.

Field instruction is an integral part of the BSW Degree Program. Opportunities to integrate classroom knowledge with social work practice, and develop professional skills in fieldwork settings are provided. The field experience is closely supervised by credentialed professionals. Only those students who are admitted to the BSW program and remain in good standing are eligible to enroll in field instruction courses and a field internship. To enter field students must meet the following requirements:

- BSW Field Practica and Seminar - students are required to have a 2.5 GPA
- All students must enroll for the same course numbered Field Practicum and Field Seminar (e.g., 4500-01 and 4501-01 / 7500-02 and 7501-02 fall semester and spring semester 4600-01 and 4601-01 / 7600-02 and 7601-02)
- Students must comply with their Plans of Study and are highly encouraged to meet with their Academic Advisors before applying for Field.

The primary purpose of field instruction is to provide students with educational opportunities that lead to core competencies of practice in alignment with GSU's social work curricular objectives and educational standards established by the Council on Social Work Education (CSWE). Also, field education provides a bridge from conceptual to applied knowledge in social work through hands on practical application.

CSWE – Accrediting Body for Social Work Education

The Council on Social Work Education (CSWE), an accreditation organization, has been recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation as the sole accrediting agency for social work education in the nation. CSWE is a nonprofit national association representing 2,500 individual members, as well as graduate and undergraduate programs of professional social work education. Founded in 1952, CSWE continues to provide an important partnership between educational and professional institutions, social welfare agencies and private citizens.

More on CSWE

CSWE works to ensure the preparation of competent social work professionals, promotes high quality of social work education, and strives to stimulate knowledge and curricular development to advance social justice in effort to strengthen community and individual well-being.

Purpose: Social Work Practice, Education, and Educational Policy and Accreditation Standards:

CSWE writes, “The purpose of the social work profession is to promote human and community well-being. Guided by a person in environment construct, a global perspective, respect for human diversity, and knowledge based on scientific inquiry, social work’s purpose is actualized through its quest for social and economic justice, the prevention of conditions that limit human rights, the elimination of poverty, and the enhancement of the quality of life for all persons (CSWE, 2010, p. 1).”

CSWE further recognizes the role of social work educators in providing service to the profession through their teaching, scholarship, and service. As a profession, social work education shapes the profession’s future by ensuring students are well suited to the profession and are educated as competent professionals. According to CSWE, social work education not only prepares baccalaureate, masters and doctoral level students as future social workers but also serves to encourage the generation of knowledge and leadership within the professional community.

“The Council on Social Work Education (CSWE) uses the Educational Policy and Accreditation Standards (EPAS) to accredit baccalaureate and master’s level social work programs. EPAS supports academic excellence by establishing thresholds for professional competence. It permits programs to use traditional and emerging models of curriculum design by balancing requirements that promote comparability across programs with a level of flexibility that encourages programs to differentiate” (CSWE, 2010, p. 1).

Signature Pedagogy of Social Work

The CSWE (2008) identified field education as the signature pedagogy of social work education. As such, field education provides students with critical learning opportunities to enable them to experience real world practice situations. Students learn through active observation of clinical client interactions, shadowing and practice with actual clients.

A major component of field education at GSU is the concurrent track of field education that takes place through both field practicum and field seminar courses. Students benefit from field integrative seminar because it provides students with consultation, guidance, peer exchange and structure to process what happens in the field in real time.

Students are expected to maximize the use of the integrative field seminar and participate fully in its process. Field integrative seminar is a weekly course taken throughout both semesters as they complete their yearlong field internship/practicum.

Generalist Practice

Generalist practice pertains to problem solving at multiple levels of intervention, and incorporates the use of varied methods, strategies, and roles for social work intervention. Field education will provide students with the opportunity to discuss generalist practice methods and provide practice opportunities within the field.

The generalist practice approach which is emphasized across the curriculum is also the focus of BSW field experiences. Students will be exposed to a variety of learning opportunities at the micro, mezzo and macro levels. Moreover, students are expected to gain experience working with individuals, families, groups, communities and organizations to develop skills in engagement, assessment, intervention and evaluation of client systems.

The field experience allows students to acquire in-depth social work practice knowledge and professional development. Students are exposed to an array of social work roles to promote their social work professional identity. Fieldwork is closely integrated with classroom courses. This enables the student to have fieldwork assignments that coincide with course assignments as well.

NASW Code of Ethics

All students, field liaisons and field instructors in the social work program have the responsibility to understand and adhere to the NASW code of Ethics as well as the Governors State Code of Conduct (on the GSU portal).

A link to the current Code can be found on the NASW website:

<http://www.socialworkers.org/pubs/code/code.asp>

Growing into a competent social work professional requires students to begin grappling with ethical principles and decision making in their practice with clients. Students will address ethical issues and practice standards in their learning contracts and discuss them on a regular basis in field supervision. Social work education includes having a commitment to the (NASW) Code of Ethics, developing into a culturally competent professional and maintaining self-care.

Disability and Compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)

It is the policy and practice of the Department of Social Work to provide equitable educational opportunities for students with documented disabilities in all programs and activities related to field instruction. GSU complies with the American with Disabilities Act and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. In order to ensure proper accommodation during field work (internship placement), arrangements must be made prior to being assigned to the field. Please notify the Director of Access Services for Students with Disabilities (ASSD) during the first week of the term so that your needs may be appropriately met.

To register (and to provide documentation) contact the ASSD Director in person in Room B1215; or send an email to assd@govst.edu; or call 708/235-3968. If you already are registered please contact the ASSD Director to discuss your specific needs for accommodations.

The Director of Field Education, the Field Liaison, and Academic Advisor may work in collaboration with the Academic Resource Center to assist students with disabilities. A meeting may be scheduled (based on the availability of all parties) to support or assist the student with any field related concerns. In addition, these parties may also collaborate should a student require a staffing to address issues of deficiency in field work.

- Submit the Learning Contract in a timely fashion in Seminar

To enhance your field experience make sure you have a good understanding of what learning opportunities the agency offers. In addition, it helps for you to know something about how you learn best and what skills you need to develop.

Field Supervision – What is it?

Field supervision is a tool used in many programs that offer internships to provide students with direction and guidance in field settings.

Students are expected to take responsibility for setting agenda items to be discussed in supervision. Students should demonstrate curiosity about the setting, and be poised to ask questions about (for example):

- Client care
- Agency protocols, policies or structure
- New intervention strategies
- Strategies for engaging diversity
- Ethics
- How to advocate on behalf of client groups

Field supervision provides interns with:

- Weekly one hour supervisory meetings
- A level of accountability in their practice with clients
- Guidance about agency policies and procedures
- On-going consultative supervision of cases
- A model of professionalism in the field
- Support to navigate unfamiliar territory (new intervention techniques, strategies, etc.)
- Critical feedback on their performance with clients, assignments or projects

Field Supervision is Important – especially for students

Active supervision helps students grow professionally and is meant to provide unbiased feedback thus enhancing a student's ability to reflect on their own behaviors, values, feelings and attitudes about clients.

Field work happens with real clients with real life situations, problems and crises – which make it vital that students receive supervision.

Students have the following responsibility for supervision:

- Attend supervision at their regularly scheduled time
- Prepare an agenda for supervision
- Discuss cases, assignments, theories and best practice
- Explore their own performance and learning needs
- Identify areas for potential growth

Field Supervisors have the following responsibility for supervision:

- Provide a space and time for weekly supervision
- Prepare an agenda for supervision
- Expect students to present on cases, assignments, and intervention strategies
- Explore the student's strengths and weaknesses and provide insight for correction /improvement
- Match students with assignments that help them grow or address any challenges (or deficiencies in practice behavior)

The field supervisor – student relationship takes time to cultivate. Students are expected to address any issues they have with their placement with their field supervisor first. Talk about whatever issues arise and do not allow problems to get worse before speaking with your field supervisor about them.

Expectations for Students:

A. Mandatory Reporting and Duty to Warn: State of Illinois Laws – Compliance

The State of Illinois has laws which cover the mandatory reporting of child or elder abuse/neglect and the duty to warn if a client is harmful to him/herself or others. Field instructors and field liaisons are responsible for educating all students with regard to these laws. Students are not allowed to be the primary mandated reporter while functioning as an intern in a field placement. This role is reserved for the fieldwork site field instructor who is responsible for ensuring that all agencies policies, regulations, laws and ethical obligations are followed. The student can assist and should have exposure to situations that involve mandatory reporting and duty to warn.

B. Refrain from Using Social Networking for Internship Purposes

In the age of technology and information, social media (Facebook, My Space, Twitter, YouTube, Blogs, Instant messaging, Instagram, SMS/Texting, etc.) can be particularly helpful in building connections with colleagues and maintaining relationships with friends and family; however, as a result, the boundary between personal and professional matters has become increasingly blurry.

Due to social work's professional standards and the obligation to follow the National Association of Social Workers Code of Ethics (<http://www.socialworkers.org/pubs/code/code.asp>), social workers need to continually assess the ethical implications/complications of social media use, not only as practicing social workers but in the training of social work students.

Students are expected to exercise caution in how they represent the social work profession as a whole in any online activities. It is very easy for an outsider to misinterpret statements or images out of context. (See NASW Code of Ethics Section 4.06a: Misrepresentation).

C. Professionalism – students must maintain professional boundaries

Professional boundaries are extremely important in the field of social work. Adherence to professional boundaries means that there is a clear demarcation between personal and professional ties, activities, and interactions with clients and coworkers or agency staff. Students must be mindful of professional boundaries at all times. Failure to adhere to proper boundaries may result in the immediate dismissal and counseling out of the social work program.

Healthy are important and must be established by the social work intern which means you do not become personal friends with clients and must maintain professional relationships with agency staff as well. It is important to reflect on growing feelings of fondness and discuss these in supervision as a way to acknowledge and manage any possible blurring of professional boundaries.

To be clear, students are not to:

- Friend clients or agency staff on social media
- Become the friends of clients
- Give money to clients
- Take client files from the agency
- Enter into friendships with clients
- Enter into financial or business relationships with clients
- Enter into sexual or intimate relationships with clients
- Give clients their personal information or ask clients for their personal information beyond what is needed in the therapeutic client-worker relationship
- Participate in cliquish behavior and agency gossip
- Exchange photos or videos with clients
- Violate confidentiality at all – this includes having an ethical obligation to protect the privacy of all clients, this means a student intern should not search online for information about a client or agency employee as these types of activities compromise personal privacy.

Chapter 4 - Policies

Field Evaluation

Although students are evaluated at the end of both semesters in field it is also considered an on-going process. The field evaluation instrument is used at the end of each semester and should be completed by both the student and field supervisor. All evaluations should be submitted on time before the last week of the semester.

The field supervisor (at the agency) recommends that students pass or not pass the field practicum based on the student's performance with clients, adherence to agency policies and guidelines, and based on the learning contract.

The GSU field liaison assigns a letter grade for the student's performance, attendance, and meaningful participation in field seminar.

Duration of Internship/Field Placement

The field placement/internship follows the University academic calendar. Students are expected to remain at their field placements until the end of each academic semester unless the field agency contracts with the student to be there longer. Some placements, such as schools, require students to be there until the end of their calendar year.

All time off for holidays should be made up to ensure that students get the hours they need. Time off for Winter/Spring break must be negotiated between the student and agency field supervisor.

Grading Guidelines

Students must pass both field practicum and field integrative seminar – if a student fails one course they automatically fail the other.

Practicum – Credit or No Credit / by the Agency Field Supervisor

Seminar – Letter grade / by the GSU Field Liaison & Seminar Instructor

Consistent Care of Clients

Consistent care of clients means providing for clients continuously without abandon or malfeasance. Client care must be carried out in a dependable manner. Student interns must understand the commitment they make when entering field work at an agency.

The continuous and consistent care of clients is of utmost importance and students must be responsible and committed to client care above all, therefore, students must not abandon their duties at their field placements. Doing so may result in termination from field (which means the student fails Practicum and Integrative Seminar).

Site Visits / Mid-term evaluation

One site visit per semester – the field liaison from GSU will visit the field site one time and complete a report on the student's mid-term progress.

Vehicle Usage

Home visits may be required at field sites. Students are responsible for inquiring about reimbursement policies of the agency and the agency's safety protocol. Students should also check with their auto insurance to make sure they have the appropriate liability coverage.

Transporting clients is strictly prohibited (according to GSU policy). Students are not to transport clients in their personal vehicles. If students are asked to transport clients they should refer the agency supervisor to the field manual.

Safety

Students are required to discuss safety with their field supervisors before going on any home visit. Students should know what the agency policy is regarding safety. Students must always survey their surroundings and take appropriate precautions to avoid potentially harmful situations. In all cases, students should develop a plan with their supervisors for dealing with potentially volatile situations or unusual events should they arise.

Field Agency Attendance, Breaks, Vacations, Time Off & End Date

All activities related to the field agency must be negotiated with the field supervisor at the time of the interview and an understanding should be made before accepting the internship placement.

Students must:

- Adhere to the agency's business day (start and end time)
- Adhere to the agency's end of placement time and expectations
 - Students have a responsibility to provide continuity of care for their clients at the field agency and must not abruptly end their field placements nor should they leave without approval
- Negotiate any time off needed
- Negotiate scheduled breaks
- Agree to continue working through their school's winter break – if the agency expects it
- Agree to attend their internship until the end of the semester – which is the basis of their grade
- Agree to make up hours (that they miss due to illness, etc.)

Students must call in to their field supervisors if they are going to be absent for any reason. Students are allowed up to 16 hours of sick leave during the internship per semester. If students are off more than the allowable 16 hours they must contact their field liaison to work out a plan to make up for the hours lost.

Absences that exceed the 16 hours may require that the student take an incomplete until such time as they are able to maintain consistent attendance and are required to submit a plan of completion. Students must request in writing that the field agency accept them back in the same semester of the following year. If the field agency is unwilling to take the student back – the student will be responsible for finding their own field placement when they return.

Other Requirements

Agencies may request that students submit to criminal background checks, drug testing and/or medical tests. If an agency does not require a background check – ONE MUST BE COMPLETED REGARDLESS SINCE GSU REQUIRES ONE! Also please note that agencies have the right to accept or deny any student a placement based on their own agency's criteria for internship placements.

Disruptions in the Field

Students will not be placed in another agency if their disruption was due to their own negligence, willful misconduct or after being placed at another agency within one academic year. Placements will be immediately and permanently disrupted if:

- The student fails to show up or call off to the field agency.
- The student blatantly disrespects clients, their field supervisor or staff at the field agency.
- The student terminates their placement without the permission or consultation of their field liaison or the field director.
- The student behaves in grossly inappropriate/unprofessional ways
 - Dress – improper for the workplace (and fails to self-correct once they have been warned).
 - Failure to adhere to proper student boundaries at the field agency – (students are not to fraternize with staff as if they are employed in the agency / behave in divisive and unprofessional ways).
 - Removes confidential files from the field agency.
- The student engages in personal relationships with clients (or staff) at the field agency.
- The student conducts themselves in an immature and unprofessional manner regarding the use of social media. Students may not use any form of social media to discuss clients, field supervisors, agencies, or their fellow students.

Violations considered grounds for immediate dismissal:

- Boundary violations – on the job (removing records or client information from the field site, fraternizing with agency staff, breeching client confidentiality, unethical behavior resulting in harm to the client or agency), etc.
- Boundary violations – clients (engaging in sexual, intimate or personal relationship with clients, friending clients on social media, and breeching confidentiality), etc.
- Failure to provide urgent care or discuss the clients’ urgent need with field supervisor or student abandons internship duties especially where quality of care is compromised and/or results in harm to client or agency, etc.
- Committing any act of violence or mayhem at the field agency or on campus during field seminar (e.g., against clients, staff, faculty, peers or public).

Disciplinary Actions or Staffing

Seminars are process oriented classes and confidentiality is to be strictly adhered to at all times. Students are not to discuss case related content or any other sensitive field related content outside the classroom for the purpose of ensuring confidentiality of clients/agencies.

Students must also respect their own peers and must not use social media or any other inappropriate forum to talk about their peers in a disparaging manner.

Students who fail to maintain professionalism will be subject to disciplinary actions and /or a staffing to determine the whether or not the student has the maturity and professionalism required for participation in field placement and field seminar.

If a staffing occurs the field liaison, field supervisor (if deemed necessary), student, academic advisor, and field director will convene a staffing where the student’s performance in field will be discussed. The field director will make a final determination within 7 days of the staffing.

A student may also be disciplined if he/she violates the NASW Code of Ethics; consistently exercises poor judgment or if a student is found to be impaired in any way that prevents him/her from performing the duties of a social work intern.

Procedures for Resolving Issues in the Field Placement

It is important as emerging professionals for students to learn proper business etiquette and how to mitigate problems in a professional manner. Often, students avoid speaking directly with the person with whom they are having a problem. The Field Education Office encourages students to exercise their own sense of agency whenever possible before escalating an issue up the chain of command.

1. Student (or field supervisor) indicates that there is a problem
2. Student/field supervisor meet with one another about the concern
3. Student again speaks with their field supervisor and if no progress is made after the second time addressing the issue with their field supervisor they should request a meeting with their field liaison.
4. Student (or field supervisor) speaks with the field liaison (student may address the issue in seminar or request to speak with liaison)
5. The field liaison will arrange a meeting with the student, field liaison and themselves to address the issue. At the end of the meeting some plan of action should be established to address the issue. All parties should meet again within 2 – 4 weeks to evaluate the progress. If the issue has been sufficiently addressed and remedied no further action is necessary.
6. If the problem persists – a staffing will be held to determine future action (dismissal, removal of student or cancellation of field site, etc.)

If a student fails field seminar and field practicum they may be counseled out of the social work program – if determined by the director of the social work program.

Time frame: If a student requests a new field placement the student is responsible for securing a new placement within 2 weeks of terminating with the first field placement. If a new placement cannot be secured within two (2) weeks of leaving the original field site the student must wait until the next academic year to complete their internship. When internships are terminated the student must take the Integrative Field Seminar and Field Practicum (as corequisites) as a new course in the following academic year in its entirety.

Cancellation of Field Site

A field agency may be cancelled if the field agency (consistently):

- Violates the NASW Code of Ethics
- Promotes a culture of discrimination based on difference
- Harms students, clients or staff in any way
- Disregard code violations for their physical facilities (citations)
- Expects students to operate as paid staff and not interns
- Places students at risk (in unsafe situations) and fails to properly train students to minimize risks and if the agency is not willing to abate any safety issues
- Refuses to provide supervision to the student

Instructions for Securing Malpractice Insurance

All students entering field practicum are required to purchase malpractice insurance. To obtain this insurance, students must also be a student member of the National Association of Social Workers. Below are the instructions for obtaining this insurance.

1. Using the keywords, National Association of Social Workers, log on to the website. On the left side of the screen, click on "Join NASW." The application will appear and you may join online. You should join as a student member and the usual fee is $48. Try to get confirmation for this application since you will need it when you apply for the malpractice insurance.
2. Complete the Student Professional Liability Insurance Program Application Form. You will need to obtain the coverage with liability limits $1,000,000/$3,000,000 and the usual fee for this coverage is $35 - $45. When you submit your application for the insurance, attach a confirmation notice or indicate that you have also applied for student membership in the NASW. Approval of this insurance coverage could take up to 6 weeks so it will be necessary to submit the completed application by the end of May.

Since the NASW membership and the insurance coverage are effective for only one year, you will need to time your application so that you will be protected for the duration your field placement which runs from last week in August through the beginning of May 2014. Therefore, it is recommended that you apply for these no earlier than May 15, 2014 and no later than May 30, 2014.

Students will not be able to begin their placements until proof of insurance coverage is received by the field director. Once you have received confirmation that you are approved under this policy, you should email, mail or deliver the cover page of the insurance plan which indicates the length and amount of coverage to:
