

Governors State University Policy on Employee Use of University e-mail

Governors State University provides you with an official e-mail account; which is a part of the official means of communication with you regarding all aspects of your employment. You are required to monitor and use this approved means of electronic communication. Emergency notifications, policy dissemination, training, business and other general information will be transmitted to you by university e-mail. Failure to receive and read GSU email does not absolve an employee from knowing and complying with the content of such communications.
