

What is a Recovery Oriented System of Care (ROSC)?

ROSC Councils build collaborations in their communities that connect everyone who can support recovery.

This may include local hospitals, primary care, mental health, law enforcement, local business owners, local government representatives and policymakers, persons with lived experience and SUD intervention, treatment, prevention, and recovery support service providers.

Recovery-Oriented Systems of Care

Recovery is a Reality.
It can, will, and does happen.

Recovery
is possible!

East Central Illinois ROSC

How can I help?

Help us knock down barriers and reduce the stigma of substance use disorders. Only through community partnerships can we support those seeking help or provide the support needed for recovery.

This means looking at more effective strategies for helping people enter recovery and supporting long-term recovery, leading to healthy communities.

What can you do?

- Help us bring hope to those suffering from addiction and their family members.
- Collaborate, communicate, and participate.
- Help us build solution-based approaches and connections to resources.

Purpose of ROSC

- To develop and foster a culture of recovery and wellness.
- To develop effective and efficient linkages to services and address gaps in the network of recovery services.
- Ensure a wide range of supports for recovery is available in our community.

Effective ROSC Services

- Greater emphasis on continuity of care: effective prevention, outreach and engagement, treatment, and support.
- Continuum of care where services are holistic, integrated, culturally responsive, and anchored in the community.
- The lives and experiences of other people in recovery are valued and used to help others on the journey.

How does this impact me?

If you...

- Live in a community where people with substance abuse disorders reside.
- Work at an agency that provides social services, medical care, and financial assistance.
- Want to live in a healthier community!

You are a much-needed member of ROSC!
