

Dr. Amy L. Kelly, Ed.D., is an Associate Professor of Early Childhood Education at Governors State University with over 20 years of experience as a teacher, researcher, and presenter. She is the author of The High Stakes of Testing and A Guide to High-Stakes Standardized Testing in the United States, and her work has appeared in Edutopia and the Journal of Educational Supervision. Dr. Kelly's sessions draw from her background in early childhood education to explore the role of play and awe in adult life. A mom of three, she's a longtime advocate for curiosity and reflection, finding inspiration in yoga, slow walks, biking, nature, and good books.
