

Jillian Rancatore, MOT, OTR/L, Doctoral Candidate, is an Occupational Therapist with ten years of pediatric experience. After graduating from Governors State University with her master's in Occupational Therapy in 2015, Jillian has worked as a School-Based Occupational Therapist through the School Association of Special Education in DuPage County (SASED) in addition to her part-time work as an Early Intervention Therapist through Kids Connection Therapy. Jillian is also an adjunct professor at Governors State University, pursuing a doctorate in occupational therapy. In her spare time, she enjoys prioritizing occupations of play, leisure, and social participation with her three-year-old son, husband, family, and friends.